

HAHNENBERG BILL aka Frank W. Hahnenberg

United States Forest Service Fire & Aviation Management, Deputy Director-Operations

Bill Hahnenberg has had a long career with the US Forest Service as an Incident Commander, Fire Management Officer and District Ranger. He recently moved to the US Forest Service National Headquarters in Fire and Aviation Management as the Deputy Director for Operations.

Bill served as an Incident Commander for one of four US Forest Service National Incident Management Organizations and as the Fire Management Officer for the Upper Colorado River Interagency fire program based in Grand Junction, Colorado. He served in on two National Forests as a District Ranger. He earned a degree from Michigan State University in Forestry and Soil Science.

Bill lives with his wife Elizabeth in Maryland. His two sons live in Colorado. He enjoys hunting with his Labrador retriever, fishing, playing racket ball and attending baseball games and country music concerts.

