

Jennifer Patrick

Jennifer Patrick is a Program Officer in the Environment Program at The JPB Foundation. She has years of experience in the environmental nonprofit sector, working to advance community health and empowerment and environmental protection. She previously served as Director of Strategy for The Trust for Public Land. Her 8-year tenure at the organization culminated in developing its urban parks programs nationwide to align with the 10-Minute Walk Campaign, an unprecedented effort to advance the vision that everyone in every American city deserves access to a great park within a 10-minute walk of home. Prior to joining The Trust for Public Land, Jen served as a consultant with several organizations including The Climate Group and Rockefeller Brothers Fund. For five years, she worked as a Program Officer at the Henry P. Kendall Foundation. Jen holds an MA in Public Policy from the Department of Urban and Environmental Policy and Planning at Tufts University.
